

Branch seal universal

The Filoform Branch seal is used in taped resin joints with branch configurations. The branch seal is a polyether molded product, which seals the space between the main cable and the branch cable, allowing de-airation of the joint. The innovative design ensures efficiency combined with minimal material wastage.

Features

- Suitable for all branch joints
- Produced without any waste of materials
- 68mm x 110mm x 30mm
